

Building Realistic Potential Patients Queries for Medical Information Retrieval Evaluation

L. Goeuriot, W. Chapman, G. Jones, L. Kelly, J.
Leveling and S. Salanterä

Evaluating Patient-centred Medical Information Retrieval

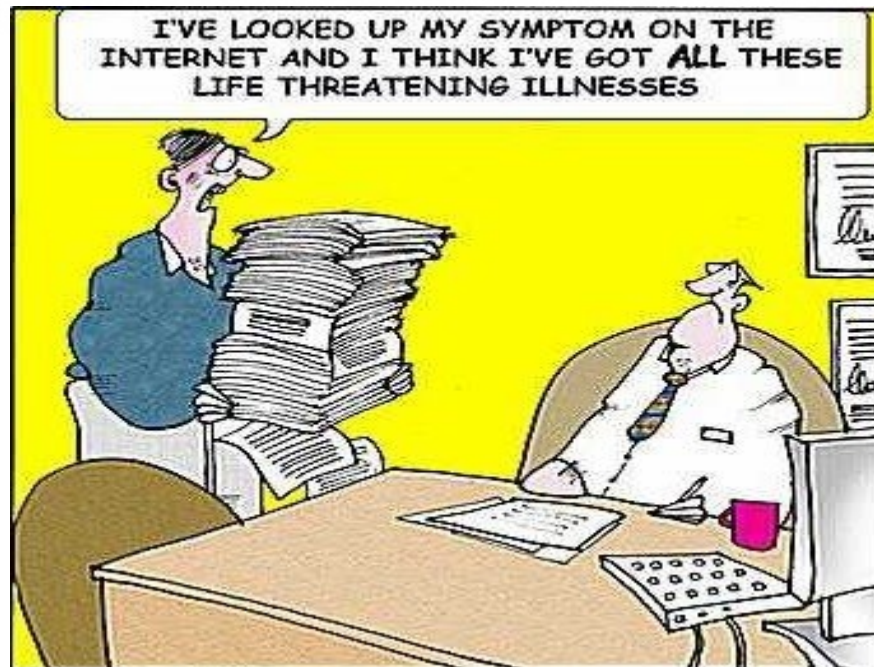

Headache

It's a Brain Tumor!

Google Search

It's a Brain Tumor!

Building Queries for IR Evaluation

Admission Date: [2010-05-22] Discharge Date: [2010-05-28]
Date of Birth: [1942-06-10] Sex: M
Service: GOLD SURGE

HISTORY OF THE PRESENT ILLNESS: Mr. [lastname 538] is a 67-year-old man with the past medical history significant for advanced multiple sclerosis, who underwent an endoscopic resection of the esophageal polyp on [2010-05-21] by Dr. The indication was for high grade dysplasia /Barrett's esophagus. The patient tolerated the procedure well and was actually discharged the same day. The patient returned home to [Location (un) ]. The following morning, he woke up and had substernal chest pain, sharp in nature without radiation, no nausea or vomiting, no fever or chills. He went to his local [Locati... ]. There, he was started on [... ] which revealed [... ]. The patient received IV [... ] and received an IV steroid [... ] for his vision. He was then transferred to [... ] for further evaluation.

Is there a connection between multiple sclerosis and dysplasia in oesophagus?