

The University of Manchester
National Centre for Text Mining
DECA CORPUS Licence Agreement

Please read this Licence Agreement carefully before using the associated resource that is described in Schedule 1. By using this resource, you consent to be bound by this Licence Agreement. If you do not agree to all of the terms of this Licence Agreement, then do not use this resource.

This Licence Agreement is made

BETWEEN

1. The University of Manchester (A Royal Charter corporation registered under number RC 000797, an exempt charity) of Oxford Road, Manchester, UK, M13 9PL (“the University”).
2. You, or the entity you represent (“the LICENSEE”).

1. Definitions of Capitalised Words

- a. “Attribution Data” means a field of metadata accompanying every resource, containing a specified string of characters to be used for attribution of the Resource.
- b. "Collective Work" means a work made up of the Resource in its entirety in unmodified form, along with other work, assembled into a collective whole. Both the Resource and any other work remain unmodified in the Collective Work and hence do not constitute a derivative work.
- c. "Derivative" means any material that Uses the Resource (or any substantial part of it) in any material form whatsoever (such as a translation, dramatization or abridgment), other than (i) as a whole and in unmodified form or (ii) by modifying it as may be technically necessary to Use it in a different mode or format; but a Collective Work is not a Derivative for the purpose of this Licence.
- d. "Derogatory Treatment" means a treatment which distorts or mutilates the Resource or is otherwise prejudicial to the honour or reputation of the Original Author or the University.
- e. "Licensee" means the Person accepting the Resource under the terms and conditions of this Licence.
- f. "Original Author" means the Person who holds any copyright or the sui generis Database Right in the Language Resource or any parts of it and is named as such in the Attribution Data.

g. "Person" means a natural person or a body of persons corporate or incorporate. In the case of a body of persons, this may only grant access to people working under its control, i.e., its own members, consultants to the organisation, employees or individuals providing service to the organisation. Individuals may be allowed access to the Resource only after being informed of the provisions of this Licence. The access is to be terminated when the licence no longer applies. The organisation will take all reasonable steps to retain the list of all persons ever granted access to the Information and make them available upon request to any of the copyright holders licensing this work.

h. "Resource" means the specific language resource DECA CORPUS, offered to You under the terms of this Licence.

i. "Site" means the premises of where the Resource will be used, which is under Your control, including but not limited to geographical location, specific computing equipment, IP addresses or any other point of access controlled by the licensee.

j. "Use", as a verb, means doing any act which is restricted by copyright or neighbouring rights (including Database Rights), whether in the original medium or any other; and includes modifying the Resource as may be technically necessary to Use it in a different mode or format.

k. "Work" means any work protected by copyright (or by database rights if applicable) which is offered under the terms of this Licence, and includes works forming only a part of the Resource as well works as incorporated in any Collective Work.

l. "You" means the Person acquiring rights under this Licence.

m. Words in the singular include the plural and vice versa.

2. The Rights Granted

2.1 Subject to the exceptions under clause 2.2, the conditions and reservations under clauses 2.3 to 2.8 below, the University grants to You a worldwide, non-exclusive, Non Commercial, licence to Use the Resource under the terms and conditions defined here. This licence covers the copyright and the sui generis database right over the Resource and is an agreement between You and the University for access to the Resource. For the purpose of this Licence, Use is encompassing all acts described below, in the execution of which only You are involved and only if the use is necessary to access and make the agreed use of the contents of the Resource.

So you may:

a. copy the Resource or incorporate the Resource into a Collective Work;

b. extract and re-utilise the whole or substantial parts of the Resource; copy the Resource as incorporated in any Collective Work;

You may perform any of the above acts by any means and in any medium whether now known or created in the future and for any purpose or in any way, excluding purposes intended for commercial advantage or payment, other than the ones provided under 2.2.

2.2 However, this Licence does not allow You to:

- a. Use the Resource outside Your site;
- b. Use the Resource in any other way other than as necessary or desirable for the purposes of Your own internal Non Commercial language engineering research activities or Your own internal Non Commercial technology development;
- c. Make available to the public all or any substantial part of the contents of the Resource, by the distribution of copies, by renting, leasing or any other form of distribution, including inclusion in a Collective Work, as well as through any free or open-source distribution forms;
- d. make products or services available to third parties in any form that allows reconstruction of the original Resource;
- e. sublicense the Resource; or
- f. subject the Resource to Derogatory Treatment;
- g. make a Derivative Work;
- h. use the Resource for commercial purposes.

This is an important condition of this Licence, and if You fail to comply with it You will be in material breach of its terms.

2.3 The Original Author asserts the right to be identified as the original author of the Work, as forming part of the Resource, if applicable.

2.4 This license is offered to You free of charge.

2.5 In addition to the above:

- a. the right to release the Resource under different terms, or to stop distributing the Resource, is reserved; and
- b. all other rights not expressly granted by the University are reserved.
- c. You must attribute the Resource by citing the following publication:

Xinglong Wang, Jun'ichi Tsujii and Sophia Ananiadou. (2010). Disambiguating the Species of Biomedical Named Entities Using Natural Language Parsers. Bioinformatics, 26(5):661-667.

2.6 This Licence does not affect any rights that You or anyone else may independently have under any applicable law (including fair dealing, fair use, or any other legally recognised limitation or exception to copyright infringement) to make any Use of this Resource.

2.7 This Licence does not allow You to claim any endorsement or approval by the University or the Original Author or Your use of the Resource without their express written permission.

2.8 You and the University are independent contractors. Nothing contained in this Licence shall be construed as creating an employer-employee relationship, a partnership or a Joint Venture between You and the University.

2.9 Since the Licensed contains data from NLM's MEDLINE database, the following statement is applicable, as required by NLM:

“NLM represents that the NLM Databases provided under this Agreement were formulated with a reasonable standard of care. Except for this representation, and as otherwise specifically provided in this Agreement, NLM makes no representation or warranties, expressed or implied. This includes, but is not limited to, any implied warranty of merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose, with respect to the NLM Databases, and NLM specifically disclaims any such warranties and representations.”

and clauses 3.7.1-3.7.6 are also applicable, as required by NLM:

2.9.1 Written approval must be obtained from NLM before records or portions of the NLM Databases are merged with other sources and NLM must be identified as the source of the NLM data so merged;

2.9.2 Any duplication, resale, or redistribution of data obtained from the NLM Databases must conform to the fair use guidelines and US and international copyright law;

2.9.3 Unless otherwise prohibited, Users may download small amounts of NLM-produced citations for redistribution in accordance with the figures contained in the NLM Databases;

2.9.4 Some material in the NLM Databases is from copyright publications of the respective copyright claimants. Users of the NLM Databases are solely responsible for compliance with any copyright restrictions and are referred to the publication data appearing in the bibliographic citations, as well as to the copyright notices appearing in the original publications, all of which are incorporated by reference;

2.9.5 All records must be identified as being derived from NLM Databases;

2.9.6 All use (including redistribution and reselling) made of the NLM Databases by Users must be reported by the Users annually to NLM using NLM supplied report forms.

3. Warranties and Disclaimer

The Resource is licensed by the University "as is" and without any warranty of any kind, either express or implied, whether of title, of accuracy, of fitness for purpose, or otherwise. In particular:

3.1 The University gives no warranty and makes no representation that the manufacture, use, sale, supply or performance of any of the Resource does not or will not infringe the rights (including but not limited to intellectual property rights) of any third party.

3.2 The University gives no warranty that the Resource will be error free or complete.

4. Limit of Liability

Subject to any liability which may not be excluded or limited by law, the University shall not be liable for, and expressly excludes, all liability for loss or damage however and whenever caused to anyone by any Use under this Licence, whether by You or by anyone else, and whether caused by any fault on the part of the University or not. If liability may not be excluded by law, it is limited to actual and direct financial loss to the extent it is caused by proved gross negligence on the part of the University.

5. Termination

5.1 Any breach by You of the terms of this licence (for example, by distributing the Resource) entitles the University to send You a termination notice within 30 days from the breach. You are entitled to provide a written objection to this notice within 30 days and in case there is no acceptance by the University the termination takes effect within 30 days of Your response.

5.2 If You are not in breach of the terms of this licence, the University may not terminate Your rights under it.

5.3 Unless terminated under clause 5.1, this Licence is granted to You for the duration of any rights in the Resource as mentioned in 2. above.

6. General

6.1 If any provision of this Licence is held to be invalid or unenforceable, that shall not affect the validity or enforceability of the remainder of the terms of this Licence.

6.2 This Licence is the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the Resource licensed here. It replaces any earlier understandings, agreements or representations with respect to the Resource not specified here.

6.3 If You are in breach of the terms of this Licence (for example, by distributing the Resource) You will not be entitled to rely on the terms of this Licence or to complain of any breach by the University.

6.4 In case of any dispute arising in relation to the License, the competent courts are those of England and the applicable laws are those of England.